Enterprise Modelling and Information Systems Architectures

An International Journal

Enterprise Modelling and Information Systems Architectures – An International Journal (EMISA) is a scholarly peer-reviewed open access journal with a unique focus on novel and innovative conceptual modelling and enterprise modelling research and its applications.

Focus and Scope

EMISA targets researchers, practitioners and students with an interest in state-of-the-art conceptual and enterprise modelling research and its applications. The journal publishes thoughtful, well developed articles on all facets of analysing, designing, investigating, evaluating and applying conceptual models, enterprise models, enterprise and information systems architectures, corresponding modelling languages and modelling methods, and is open to submissions from all scientific disciplines and fields. The editorial board imposes no restrictions regarding the research paradigm or research method, encourages multi- and transdisciplinary research contributions, and welcomes submissions from for-profit, nonprofit and government organisations in a dedicated ‘Experience Report’ section.

The journal will address (but will not limit itself to) the following specific areas:

- Information Systems Design and Design Methods
- Information Systems Development Methods and Tools
- Business Process Management, Enterprise Architecture Management
- Modelling Methods, Meta Modelling, Method Engineering
- Enterprise Architectures, Information Systems Architectures, Software Architectures
- General Purpose and Domain-Specific Modelling Languages
- Ontologies and Reference Models
- Analysis Patterns, Design Patterns, Architectural Patterns
- Analysis of Conceptual Models and Modelling Languages
- Evaluation and Quality of Conceptual Models, Architectures and Languages
- Model-Driven Development, Models@run-time, Executable Models
- Software Tools for Conceptual and Enterprise Modelling, Business Process Management and Enterprise Architecture Management

Advantages of publishing in EMISA

- True Open Access (no author fees, no exclusive rights to publish)
- No limitation of length of submission
- Fast review cycle with constructive reviews
- International board of renowned editors
- Indexed by DBLP (further indexing in preparation)
